BREED THEATER.

The Common Enemy, Thrilling Southern War Drama.

One of the many features at the Breed theater for today is the thriling war picture of the days in the south when there existed a band of "unlawful warfarers" known as guerrilas, and it is with this particular band that the feature picture, entitled. The Common Rnemy, deals. The head of a thrifty southern family is stationed within a mile of his own home as captain, and while engaged in his military duties receives a message from his home saying that his home is occupied by guerrillas and the lives of his family are in peril. He starts immediately for his home, and arrives there in the midst of a terrible conflict between the family and the guerrillas. After a stubborn battle the captain is victorious and kills the leader in a hand-to-hand battle. There is a sporting picture also displayed, showing the method of hunting polar bears, and the scenes are most complete and interesting while the amusing comedy of the Blosraph company comes in for a large sare of the appreciation.

Miss Louise Selbert, who sings so well and delights so many of the patrons of the Breed, wins the popular favor by her sweet rendition of the very tuneful ballad entitled "You're as Pretty as a Picture," which never fails to bring her an encore.

What might be aptly termed a "trick" playlet will headline the bill at the Auditorium Monday, May 16th. Perkins, Lupin & Co. present a satire in one act, founded on a posthumous saga of Henrik Ibsen's, entitled "Friendship." It tells the story of two friends who are suddenly brought into contact with a situation in their lives which threatens to destey the friendship of a lifetime. The manner in which the crisis is handled is a revelation in stagecraft, and the climax is the greatest of all. Charles Seeback, the world's champion punching bag demonstrator, offers an Charles Seeback, the world's champion punching bag demonstrator, offers an athletic act that should appeal to all. Two classy girls with the "make good" habit, are Zella Russel and Mabel Curmonteil, "The Auto Boys," present "some" plane playing, a few specially written songs and a sketch or two. Mamie Fulton, a talented character songstress, completes the vaudeville lifering for the first three days.

The plotures speak for themselves.

The plotures speak for themselves, and such features as Red Wing's Loy-lity are to be seen only at the Audi-orium, the Norwich representative of he "Bison Film."

Planting Pine and Chestnut Trees. The Ansonia Water company is having fifty thousand pine and chestnut trees planted around their reservoirs in the south part of town. Ten thousand little chestnut trees have been set out and the planting of the 40,000 pines is well under way. The pines were imported from Germany. William J. Peck has charge of the planting, with a dozen Italians under his direction. Near the Italians under his direction. Near the south end of the larger reservoir is what looks from the roadway like flower or vegetable beds, but which we learned were beds of pines which are being raised from the seed

The trees now being set out are placed six feet apart each way, which will allow for a liberal thinning out when partly grown, and the surplus may possibly be utilized as christmas trees. But when those chestnut trees are grown won't the boys look with longing eyes on the chestnut groves when the frost has opened the burrs! But that is looking long ahead. They certainly will make a beautiful scene, looking down from the hills upon the lakes surrounded by pine and chestnut trees.—Seymour Record.

POETRY.

SUCCESS.

Success is not in gaining wealth.

Nor being famous. No, young man!

Success is not a roll of bills.

Nor yet a touring moving van.

Success is not a house of stone.

A castle grand where you may dwell.

Success, what is it then, you ask?

Ah, it is doing one thing well.

Success is not in holding power.
To lord it o'er your fellow man;
Success—the modest little flower—
Achieve it on the Maker's plan.
The toller in the field achieves
Success, if he but goes his way
And does his duty faithfully
And gives the best he has each day.

Success is not a synonym

For greatness in the public eye;
Unheard of and unheralded
The greatest of successes lie.
Whate'er your modest task may be,
Disdain it not nor try to snun.
Perform it well. The secret learn,
Success is duty nobly done.

Nation with nation, land with land.
Unarmed shall live as compades free;
In every heart and brain shall throb
The pulse of one frateralty.

New art shall bloom, of loftler mold. And mightler music thrill the skies; And every life shall be a song When all the carth is paradise. There shall be no more sin nor shame.

And wrath and wrong shall fettered lie;

For man shall be at one with God in bonds of firm necessity.

—J. A. Symonds
